CAT GUARDED DEAD GIANTS.

Bridget McDonald, a woman about seventy years old and more than six feet tall, was found dead last night in a room which she occupied in the basement of the tenement No. 329 west Twenty-ninth street. Her death was due to dropsy.

Miss McDonald, who was well known to the residents of the neighborhood because of her remarkable height, had lived for ten years in the room where she died. During this time her only companion was a cat, to whom the woman was greatly attached. The animal frequently followed her about the streets in the neighborhood, and was generally known as "Bridget's cat."

Mrs. Baldassaro Rocco, an Italian, and her husband lived in a room near that occupied by Miss McDonald. The old maid had been ailing for several days, but until Sunday last persistently refused to permit a physician to be called to attend her. Mrs. Rocco heard groans proceeding from the woman's room last evening.

About an hour later she went to the apartment and found it in darkness. She called Miss McDonald by name, but, receiving no answer, lighted a lamp. The woman was lying on her back. It took but a moment for Mrs. Rocco to ascertain that she was dead.

The faithful cat was crouched by its mistress's side, and when an effort was made to drive it away showed fight. Mrs. Rocco summoned neighbors and a policeman was called. He notified the coroner's office and later the body was taken to the morgue. The services of four men were required to carry the body to the morgue wagon.

But little is known of Miss McDonald by her neighbors. It is not believed that she has any relatives except a brother, who lives in Ireland. Ten years ago she rented the room in which she died, but owing to her reticence about her private affairs the neighbors never learned much concerning her previous history. She always showed pleasure when the fact of her unusual height was referred to.—[New York Herald.]

BRUTAL ASSAULT.—News of a revolting crime committed in the municipal district of Hardy county, W. Va., on last Wednesday, has reached Winchester. The victim of the crime is the little ten-year-old daughter of Lewis Dellinger, of Alum Springs, Shenandoah county. The child for some time past has been living with her grandmother in West Virginia, just across the State line, in what is known as "The Cove," a small valley between the great North and Capon mountains, and sparsely settled. The grandmother had been in the habit of sending the little girl to the country store at Mathias, several miles distant. On Wednesday the girl started on horseback, and when about midway between home and the store she was suddenly seized by George Rinker, a young white man of the neighborhood, and feloniously assaulted. She knew Rinker, who, realizing the seriousness of his position, threatened to kill her if she revealed his identity. The doctors say she cannot recover. Rinker was arrested and given a preliminary hearing before Justice J. W. Woods, who sent him on for the grand jury. He was taken to jail at Moorefield.

WEST VIRGINIA ELEPHANT TALE.—George Dilly, of Lincoln county, W. Va., a circus man, has been killed by a female elephant at Roncovert. Dilly had been teasing the elephant and her baby, and though warned to stop, kept on until the animal became enraged. During the night, while Dilly and two other men were asleep in the tent, the elephant broke her chain, walked over two of the men, picked up Dilly with her trunk, and beat him to death on the ground and then crushed him with her feet.

Story of a Slave.
To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle-working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by E. S. Allen and E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.

YOU ARE MAKING A GREAT MISTAKE in not sending for 10 cent trial size of Ely's Cream Balm. It is a specific for catarrh and cold in the head. We mail it, or the 50 cent size Druggists all keep it. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren st. New York.

catarrh catched off difficulty in speaking and to a great extent loss of hearing. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm dropping of mucus has ceased, voice and hearing have greatly improved.—J. W. Davidson, Att'y at Law, Monmouth, Ill.
